SITUATION

Old Wardens is situated a short distance from the small village of Simonsbath and is perfectly positioned to take advantage of the many rural activities for which the area is so well renowned. Set in the splendour of the Barle Valley, Simonsbath lies in the heart of the Exmoor National Park and has a hotel, a Public House, and the parish church of St Lukes, which presides over the largest Parish in Somerset. There are many opportunities to take advantage of the surrounding countryside with walks from Simonsbath, notably down the River Barle and north through Ashcombe onto the high moor, overlooking the magnificent Exmoor coastline.

Exford, some five miles to the east, is a thriving village with two hotels, well stocked village shop, church, village hall and primary school. Dulverton is 14 miles away and is a delightful small town well known as The Gateway to Exmoor. It provides good day to day shopping together with two churches, post office, chemist, doctors, dentists and veterinary surgeries and a well used town hall. There are also good restaurants and recreational facilities including squash courts, all weather tennis courts and football and cricket pitches. The thriving market town of South Molton, 12 miles south west of Simonsbath, offers an excellent range of day to day amenities including schooling up to secondary level, a wide variety of shops, banking facilities, churches, livestock markets and pannier markets on Thursdays and Saturdays.
